U. S. PATENT OFFICE

The BENEDICT Manufacturing Company is "a family sized business" which is large enough to manufacture competitively, but has deliberately controlled its growth so as not to become a sprawling industrial giant. It is our feeling that this sized company is most interested in and can best service the individual customer.

From father to son, down through three successive generations, management and labor have continued to "get along." Strikes have been unknown during our last 65 years. Third generation employees in many departments attest to this cordial relationship.

There is stamped on each article an identifying Benedict trade mark which indicates the quality of silverplating. In addition to the Benedict quality trade mark there is stamped a mark indicating the predominating elements in the base metal upon which the silver is plated. E.P.N.S. means Electro Plate Nickel Silver and E.P.C. means Electro Plate on Copper. Each article bears the catalog number indicated.

This catalog is so designed to be used as a selling aid in your store. Keep it on your counter at all times.

From the late Georgian period, comes this exclusive Benedict English Rose Scroll bordered design. This design has been so widely acclaimed that we have designed an entire set of matching table pieces and candlesticks to complement this lovely tea and coffee service. (See subsequent pages). Expert craftsmanship is employed in hand soldering our exclusive mounting on the finest quality nickel silver.

The Prince Regent set is characterized by stateliness. This service was born from the desire to offer a finer set for those wishing a completely different design of genuine beauty. An unusual effect is created by hand oxidization of a distinctly different Leaf-Gadroon border, complemented by the intricate design of the mountings and the sweeping lines of the individual pieces.

Serving Trays

Three generations of experience have convinced us that the old adage, "There is no substitute for quality" is especially true in the manufacture of the serving tray which is so often the show piece in a home. With this in mind, Benedict adheres to the proved traditions of quality by still performing the operations hidden to the eye which are necessary to produce fine silverplate. For example, all the edges of the mounted bead, the handles and the entire surfaces of these trays are hand buffed with pumice before plating. All trays are carefully finished front and back. Backs of trays have Benedict pearled finish for long lasting beauty.

Benedict Coronet Pattern

The French Regency was the transition style between two great periods in decorative art, that of Louis XIV and Louis XV (1715-1723). This period inspired our designers to originate the fine clean harmonious Coronet line associated with simplicity and dignity.

Benedict Beverage Sets

For the first time since the war you can offer your customers a complete beverage service. For those who are limited in stock space and who are desirous of promoting additional hollow ware sales, we offer the following merchandising answer. We will gladly manufacture for you a sample of each number and lacquer it for permanent display in your show case. You can then offer the customer any quantity in any style without being faced with the constant problem of broken stock and large inventories since these will be available for stock delivery upon request.

Benedict Old English Reproductions

1182

The beauty of hand crafted simplicity is exemplified in the BENEDICT reproductions of Old English Plate of the dignified Middle Georgian Period. The decorative feature of these practical utility items of household hollowware consists of simple borders such as the Beaded-Ovolo, much favored by the 18th century silversmith.

Benedict Repair Department

Benedict Mfg. Co. takes pleasure in announcing the opening for the first time of a complete repair department. We are prepared to provide immediate and efficient service for all of your resilvering, repairing and replacement work. This department has been established by utilizing experienced personnel who are thoroughly familiar with every possible job that could come before them. Our skilled craftsmen are prepared to furnish you with exact and painstaking service.

Whether your repair requirements are large or small, we invite you to share our craftsmanship, facilities, and experience acquired in over sixty-five years of manufacturing quality silverware. May we suggest that you call upon us today.

While we are equipped to service your needs in the handling of repairs to merchandise other than our own, we feel that it would be advantageous to the distributor, as well as to ourselves, to repair our products at no profit. We are, therefore, offering a discount of 25% to apply solely on all repairs to products bearing our trademark.
